Purpose and scope

Advancing Global Health is an APS issued and administered by the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Global Health Security and Diplomacy (GHSD). It provides a framework for projects that operationalize the America First Global Health Strategy, complement bilateral health MOUs and related implementation plans, address identified gaps, strengthen health systems and country self-reliance, and support concrete health outcomes. Projects must respond to a specific Addendum. The supplied Addendum M covers Uzbekistan, with Objective 1 priority regions of the Republic of Karakalpakstan, Tashkent, Samarkand and Bukhara.

The funding instrument is a grant or cooperative agreement; cooperative agreements involve substantial Department of State participation during implementation.

Funding

The APS-wide estimated funding is up to USD 4,500,000,000, subject to availability of funds. The stated APS-wide award range is USD 500,000 to USD 250,000,000 per proposal, also subject to availability of funds; it is not an Addendum-specific award commitment.

Projects may run for up to 5 years. Cofinancing is not required; applicants may propose cost share or matching, which is not evaluated in merit review.
